

Summary Past Allocation of RSF funds

Emily Carr University of Art + Design is a small institution. Our researchers have been successful in getting Tri-Agency funding for their projects. The information below summarizes the Research Support Fund received in the last five years and its allocation. The funds are used yearly to offset the cost of research administration that includes tasks such as:

- research expense processing and compliance;
- financial reporting both internally and externally;
- general pre- and post- award administrative support for grantees.
