7. Alumni Association

T. Kelly, joined by Sára Molčan, Manager, Engagement, Donor + Alumni presented on the SNAAP, BC Student Outcomes Publications and Alumni survey results. It was explained that the SNAAP gathers, analyzes and reports on survey data (2022, 20217, 2015) from graduates of arts and design schools and colleges to understand the professional success, educational satisfaction, and personal fulfillment of arts alumni. It was reported that in comparative data to other institutions, ECU shows up well with most alumni feeling good about their institutional experience.

The SNAAP survey is a comprised of the schools that are part of the Association of Independent Colleges of Art & Design (AICAD) in North America and out of those are only four Canadian public institutions.

Areas where ECU exceeded AICAD average:

- Overall quality of instructors;
- Take courses across different artistic or design disciplines;
- Opportunities to integrate practice with topics our students find interesting outside of art and design;
- Learn about creative practices from cultural backgrounds different from their own; and
- Learn about matters of racial justice or social inequity.

From the SNAAP results it showed that while ECU ranked high in critical thinking, creative thinking and problem-solving, communication, research, change adaption and collaboration, ECU ranked lower in technology, and artistic technique.

Moving forward:

- We have a lot of data, need to better analyze and understand areas of concern;
- Audit alumni relations and support at the institution;
- Add more context to better understand ways to create more support; and
- Center response to student experience and alumni feedback as an institutional priority.
